MONSTER AND MAN

Lyrics and music by Mark Osier

Am G Am Who am I? What am I? What have I done? G Am Why do they hate me so? Why must I run? F G C G/D Am I've never known comfort, only anger and fear F G F Am (So I) ask you, my father, why am I here?

Memories fill my head from time to time Play a flute, love a wife, none of them mine I can't sort the voices though often I try So father, creator, which one am I?

Yet within, deep inside, with rage above I have felt flowing forth feelings of love I ask you to help me free love from its cage For if you deny love, I shall embrace rage

Father, my maker, make me a bride
If I cannot have love, your love will die
I see you're reluctant, and the choice is your own
Will both of us love or both be alone

So answer my questions, but I don't think you can So which of us is monster, and which one is man?
